Announcing Hacker Evolution – Nanovirus for the Pocket, from exosyphen studios

Cluj Napoca, Romania, European Union, March 2, 2008

exosyphen studios, a game development studio with a long standing experience and reputation, is pleased to announce Hacker Evolution - Nanovirus for the PocketPC.

Hacker Evolution-Nanovirus is a challenging mind game for your Windows Mobile Pocket PC. 25 nanoviruses have infected the network and you have to attack and destroy them in the correct order, to clear the network and avoid losing your firewall.

How to play the game:

In order to be able to attack a virus and destroy it (without having your firewall destroyed), the sum of the strength of all viruses on the same column and line, must be lower than your firewall strength. Otherwise, you will still be able to destroy the virus, but your firewall will be lowered by 1. If your firewall level reaches 0, you lose the game.

Whenever you successfully attack and destroy a virus that has the highest strength (value) in the network, your firewall will increase by 1.

Your final score is calculated based on your overall performance. You have to possess the intelligence and creativity of a hacker, in order to obtain the highest possible score.

Hacker Evolution - Nanovirus Pricing and Availability

Hacker Evolution - Nanovirus runs on any Windows Mobile Pocket PC and costs $4.95(USD).
